Biography

Tami Sloan Tsark is a Bay Area artist and a Media Producer. Recently having completed the Motion Graphics certification at BAVC (The Bay Area Video Coalition), she is shooting a series of documentaries about exhibiting artists --their processes, their philosophies, and their journeys. In her work, she infuses her love for Motion into her imagery: This comes from her background as a competitive ice skater,. Themes that are of most interest are dream-states, persistent knowledge and/or the transfer of emotion from historical or perceived events to new hosts. In simple terms, she loves to marry found objects or known subjects and to explore their affect through the use of video or paint.

A graduate of the UCLA Film and TV Program, Ms. Tsark has worked as an executive producer at several educational software and Internet companies (including Broderbund/Random House, McGraw-Hill, Leapfrog, Knowledge Adventure, 415 Productions, Hewlett Packard.) She has also worked as a Post Production Supervisor for animated television series, Rugrats and The Simpsons. In her other professional life, she works as Projects' Director and is involved in all aspects of production and business development.
